Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 2
Which technology is not necessary to set up a basic MPLS domain?
A. an IGP
B. LDP or TDP
C. IP addressing
D. CEF
E. a VRF
Answer: E
Explanation:
The simplest form of VRF implementation is VRF Lite. In this implementation, each router within the network participates in the virtual routing environment in a peer-based fashion. While simple to deploy and appropriate for small to medium enterprises and shared data centres, VRF Lite does not scale to the size required by global enterprises or large carriers, as there is the need to implement each VRF instance on every router, including intermediate routers. VRFs were initially introduced in combination with MPLS, but VRF proved to be so useful that it eventually evolved to live independent of MPLS. This is the historical explanation of the term VRF LitE. usage of VRFs without MPLS.
