NEW QUESTION: 1

Your network consists of one Active Directory domain that contains domain controllers that run Windows Server 2008.

The relative identifier (RID) operations master role for the domain fails and cannot be restored.

You need to restore the RID master role on the network.

What should you do?

- A. Run netdom query /d:contoso.com fsmo.
- B. Force replication between all domain controllers, and then run the Server Manager.
- C. From another domain controller, seize the RID operations master role.
- D. Force replication between all domain controllers, and then run the File Server Resource Manager (FSRM).

Answer: C

Explanation:

seize the word seize. If it comes up then it tends to be the answer.

Seize RID master

Forces the domain controller to which you are connected to claim ownership of the relative ID master role without regard to the data associated with the role. Use only for recovery purposes.
