Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation
By default, connection draining is enabled for Application Load Balancers but must be enabled for Classic Load Balancers. When Connection Draining is enabled and configured, the process of deregistering an instance from an Elastic Load Balancer gains an additional step. For the duration of the configured timeout, the load balancer will allow existing, in-flight requests made to an instance to complete, but it will not send any new requests to the instance. During this time, the API will report the status of the instance as InService, along with a message stating that "Instance deregistration currently in progress." Once the timeout is reached, any remaining connections will be forcibly closed.

NEW QUESTION: 3

After an annual review meeting, the Project Director meets with each Project Manager and they agree to update the Sponsor reporting frequency from monthly to weekly using which documentation?

- A. Both (a) and (c)
- B. Reporting Record
- C. All of the above
- D. Communication Plan
- E. Both (a) and (b)
- F. WBS

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 4

You are editing the management network configuration of an ESXi 6.x Host from the vSphere Web Client.

You mistakenly put the incorrect VLAN in place for the management network.

What action do you need to take to correct this?

- A. The ESXi host system configuration will need to be restored to the factory configuration to fix the issue.
- B. The change can be reverted in the vSphere Web Client by simply editing the switch again.
- C. You need to manually edit the configuration on the host with command line utilities.
- D. No action is required. By default ESXi rolls back configuration changes that disconnect the host.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation

By rolling configuration changes back, vSphere protects hosts from losing connection to vCenter Server as a result from misconfiguration of the management network. In this case, configuring the wrong VLAN on the management network would result in a lost connection to the server.
